

The V STONE range of natural stone cladding adds a real architectural element to your landscape. The rugged, solid look of our unique product range works in perfectly with both feature walls and retaining walls.

Our natural cladding range came about through consultation with leading landscape industry designers and contractors to deliver a range suited to both contemporary and traditional Australian landscapes. The V STONE range is available in various tones and textures that allow easy blending with other landscaping materials.

The V STONE natural stone cladding range includes:

V STONE DRYSTONE

This comes in individual pieces to achieve the closest look to true freestanding dry stone walling as built by an experienced stonemason.

To aid in the natural aesthetic yet make installation easier, the pieces come in various lengths up to 600mm and various heights up to 200mm, with a thickness of 20-40mm. The stone is hand split on the surface and sides, but sawn on the bottom surface to allow easy application with a suitable adhesive to the substrate.

To assist in any finishing detail we also provide L-shaped corner units and capping pieces.

V STONE LEDGESTONE

Unique interlocking z-tile 600x200 panels with a thickness of 20-40mm allow you to achieve a look akin to true freestanding dry stone walling as built by an experienced stonemason, with the added benefit of quick and easy installation.

This can either save considerable money on installation costs or allow DIY installation for the home handy person. The cladding is hand split on the surface and sides, but sawn on the bottom to allow easy application with a suitable adhesive to the substrate. To assist in any finishing detail we also provide interlocking corner units and capping pieces.

V STONE CAPPING

The V STONE range of capping is available in both Otway & Hotham to complement and finish your clad wall where required.

The leading edge is handsplit to emulate the walling stone and complete your project.

V STONE capping comes in a 600x300 size and is available in either one, two or three handsplit edges.
